

Josephine Roche Speaks Tonight At The University

"Current Political and Economic Problems" will be the subject of Miss Josephine Roche, of Denver, president of the Rocky Mountain Fuel company tonight under the joint auspices of the Economic Round Table and the Young America Group of the University. The address will be given at 7:30 in the west lounge of the Memorial building. The Silver and Gold says:

Miss Roche is a famous lecturer and writer on democracy in industry and one of the most outstanding progressive liberals of the time. She is one of the leading advocates of profit sharing in industry and conducts her own company on a strictly profit sharing basis. She has conducted many experiments in more democratic relations with workers and the dealings of her company with its miners are outstanding for their fairness.

In the recent price war of the fuel companies of Colorado, Miss Roche refused to reduce the wages of her workers for the purpose of cutting prices, but the workers themselves agreed to make a loan of a portion of their wages to the company in order that it might be able to compete with the others.

Miss Roche was a member of the executive committee of the National League of Women voters in 1925. The public is invited to hear her address this evening.
